	Name of Company	Company Contact Details
Data Controller	Nottingham Tutorial College Limited	0115 845 6404

Introduction: NTC collects and processes personal information, or personal data, relating to its employees, workers and contractors to manage the working relationship. This personal information may be held by NTC on paper or in electronic format.

NTC is committed to being transparent about how it handles your personal information, to protecting the privacy and security of your personal information and to meeting its data protection obligations under the General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR) and the Data Protection Act 2018. The purpose of this privacy notice is to make you aware of how and why NTC will collect and use your personal information both during and after your working relationship with NTC. NTC are required under the GDPR to notify you of the information contained in this privacy notice.

This privacy notice applies to all current and former employees, workers and contractors. It is non-contractual and does not form part of any employment contract, casual worker agreement, consultancy agreement or any other contract for services.

NTC has appointed a Data Compliance Manager to oversee compliance with this privacy notice. If you have any questions about this privacy notice or about how NTC handle your personal information, please contact them on the details below:

The Data Protection Principles: Under the GDPR, there are six data protection principles that NTC must comply with. These provide that the personal information NTC hold about you must be:

1. Processed lawfully, fairly and in a transparent manner.
2. Collected only for legitimate purposes that have been clearly explained to you and not further processed in a way that is incompatible with those purposes.
3. Adequate, relevant and limited to what is necessary in relation to those purposes.
4. Accurate and, where necessary, kept up to date.
5. Kept in a form which permits your identification for no longer than is necessary for those purposes.
6. Processed in a way that ensures appropriate security of the data.

NTC is responsible for, and must be able to demonstrate compliance with, these data protection principles. This is called the Principle of Accountability.

What types of personal information do NTC collect about you? Personal information is any information about an individual from which that person can be directly or indirectly identified. It doesn't include anonymised data i.e. where all identifying particulars have been removed. There are also special categories of personal information, and personal information on criminal convictions and offences, which requires a higher level of protection because it is of a more sensitive nature. The special categories of personal information comprise information about an individual's racial or ethnic origin, political opinions, religious or philosophical beliefs, trade union membership, health, sex life or sexual orientation and genetic and biometric data.

NTC collects, uses and processes a range of personal information about you. This includes (as applicable):

- Your contact details, including your name, address, telephone number and personal e-mail address
- Your emergency contact details/next of kin
- Your date of birth
- Your gender
- Your marital status and dependants
- The start and end dates of your employment or engagement
- Recruitment records, including personal information included in a CV, any application form, cover letter, interview notes, references, copies of proof of right to work in the UK documentation, copies of qualification certificates, copy of driving licence and other background check documentation
- The terms and conditions of your employment or engagement (including your job title and working hours), as set out in a job offer letter, employment contract, written statement of employment particulars, casual worker agreement, consultancy agreement, pay review and bonus letters, statements of changes to employment or engagement terms and related correspondence
- Details of your skills, qualifications, experience and work history, both with previous employers and with NTC
- Your professional memberships
- Your salary, entitlement to benefits and pension information
- Your National Insurance number
- Your bank account details, payroll records, tax code and tax status information
- Any disciplinary, grievance and capability records, including investigation reports, collated evidence, minutes of hearings and appeal hearings, warning letters, performance improvement plans and related correspondence
- Appraisals, including appraisal forms, performance reviews and ratings, targets and objectives set
- Training records
- Annual leave and other leave records, including details of the types of and reasons for leave being taken and related correspondence
- Any termination of employment or engagement documentation, including resignation letters, dismissal letters, redundancy letters, minutes of meetings, settlement agreements and related correspondence
- Information obtained through electronic means, such as swipe card or clocking-in card records
- Information about your use of NTC IT systems, including usage of telephones, e-mail and the Internet
- Photographs.

NTC may also collect, use and process the following special categories of your personal information (as applicable):

- Information about your health, including any medical condition, whether you have a disability in respect of which NTC needs to make reasonable adjustments, sickness absence records (including details of the reasons for sickness absence being taken), medical reports and related correspondence
- Information about your racial or ethnic origin, religious or philosophical beliefs and sexual orientation
- Trade union membership
- Information about criminal convictions and offences.

How do NTC collect your personal information? NTC may collect personal information about employees, workers and contractors in a variety of ways. It is collected during the recruitment process, either directly from you or sometimes from a third party such as an employment agency. NTC may also collect personal information from other external third parties, such as references from former employers, information from background check providers, information from credit reference agencies and criminal record checks from the Disclosure and Barring Service (DBS).

NTC will also collect additional personal information throughout the period of your working relationship with the organisation. This may be collected in the course of your work-related activities. Whilst some of the personal information you provide to NTC is mandatory and/or is a statutory or contractual requirement, some of it you may be asked to provide to NTC on a voluntary basis. NTC will inform you whether you are required to provide certain personal information to NTC, or if you have a choice in this.

Your personal information may be stored in different places, including in your personnel file, in NTC's HR management system and in other IT systems, such as the e-mail system.

Why and how do NTC use your personal information? NTC will only use your personal information when the law allows NTC to do so. These are known as the legal bases for processing. NTC will use your personal information in one or more of the following circumstances:

- Where NTC need to do so to perform the employment contract, casual worker agreement, consultancy agreement or contract for services NTC have entered into with you
- Where NTC need to comply with a legal obligation
- Where it is necessary for NTC's legitimate interests (or those of a third party), and your interests or your fundamental rights and freedoms do not override NTC's interests.

NTC may also occasionally use your personal information where NTC need to protect your vital interests (or someone else's vital interests).

NTC need all the types of personal information listed under "What types of personal information do NTC collect about you?" primarily to enable the organisation to perform its contract with you and to enable NTC to comply with its legal obligations. In some cases, NTC may also use your personal information where it is necessary to pursue its legitimate interests (or those of a third party), provided that your interests or your fundamental rights and freedoms do not override NTC's interests. NTC's legitimate interests include:

- Performing or exercising NTC's obligations or rights under the direct relationship that exists between NTC and you as its employee, worker or contractor
- Pursuing NTC's business by employing (and rewarding) employees, workers and contractors
- Performing effective internal administration and ensuring the smooth running of the business
- Ensuring the security and effective operation of NTC systems and network
- Protecting NTC's confidential information
- Conducting due diligence on employees, workers and contractors.

NTC believe that you have a reasonable expectation, as an NTC employee, worker or contractor, that the organisation will process your personal information.

The purposes for which NTC are processing, or will process, your personal information are to:

- Enable NTC to maintain accurate and up-to-date employee, worker and contractor records and contact details (including details of whom to contact in the event of an emergency)
- Run recruitment processes and assess your suitability for employment, engagement or promotion
- Comply with statutory and/or regulatory requirements and obligations e.g. checking your right to work in the UK
- Comply with the duty to make reasonable adjustments for disabled employees and workers and with other disability discrimination obligations
- Maintain an accurate record of your employment or engagement terms
- Administer the contract that NTC have entered into with you
- Make decisions about pay reviews and bonuses
- Ensure compliance with your statutory and contractual rights
- Ensure you are paid correctly and receive the correct benefits and pension entitlements, including liaising with any external benefits or pension providers or insurers
- Ensure compliance with income tax requirements e.g. deducting income tax and National Insurance contributions where applicable
- Operate and maintain a record of disciplinary, grievance and capability procedures and action taken
- Operate and maintain a record of performance management systems
- Record and assess your education, training and development activities and needs
- Plan for career development and succession
- Manage, plan and organise work
- Enable effective workforce management
- Operate and maintain a record of annual leave procedures
- Operate and maintain a record of sickness absence procedures
- Ascertain your fitness to work
- Operate and maintain a record of maternity leave, paternity leave, adoption leave, shared parental leave, parental leave and any other type of paid or unpaid leave or time off work
- Ensure payment of SSP or contractual sick pay
- Ensure payment of other statutory or contractual pay entitlements e.g. SMP, SPP, SAP and ShPP
- Meet NTC obligations under health and safety laws
- Make decisions about continued employment or engagement
- Operate and maintain a record of dismissal procedures
- Provide references on request for current or former employees, workers or contractors
- Prevent fraud
- Monitor your use of NTC IT systems to ensure compliance with NTC IT-related policies

- Ensure network and information security and prevent unauthorised access and modifications to systems
- Ensure effective HR, personnel management and business administration, including accounting and auditing
- Ensure adherence to NTC rules, policies and procedures
- Monitor equal opportunities
- Enable NTC to establish, exercise or defend possible legal claims.

Please note that NTC may process your personal information without your consent, in compliance with these rules, where this is required or permitted by law.

What if you fail to provide personal information? If you fail to provide certain personal information when requested or required, NTC may not be able to perform the contract it has entered into with you, or NTC may be prevented from complying with its legal obligations. You may also be unable to exercise your statutory or contractual rights.

Why and how do NTC use your sensitive personal information? NTC will only collect and use your sensitive personal information, which includes special categories of personal information and information about criminal convictions and offences, when the law allows NTC to do so.

Some special categories of personal information i.e. information about your health or medical conditions and trade union membership, and information about criminal convictions and offences, is processed so that NTC can perform or exercise its obligations or rights under employment law or social security law and in line with NTC data protection policy. Information about health or medical conditions may also be processed for the purposes of assessing the working capacity of an employee or medical diagnosis, provided this is done under the responsibility of a medical professional subject to the obligation of professional secrecy e.g. a doctor, and again in line with NTC data protection policy.

NTC may also process these special categories of personal information, and information about any criminal convictions and offences, where NTC have your explicit written consent. In this case, NTC will first provide you with full details of the personal information NTC would like and the reason it is needed, so that you can properly consider whether you wish to consent or not. It is entirely your choice whether to consent. Your consent can be withdrawn at any time.

The purposes for which NTC are processing, or will process, these special categories of your personal information, and information about any criminal convictions and offences, are to:

- Assess your suitability for employment, engagement or promotion
- Comply with statutory and/or regulatory requirements and obligations e.g. carrying out criminal record checks
- Comply with the duty to make reasonable adjustments for disabled employees and workers and with other disability discrimination obligations
- Administer the contract NTC have entered into with you
- Ensure compliance with your statutory and contractual rights
- Operate and maintain a record of sickness absence procedures
- Ascertain your fitness to work
- Manage, plan and organise work
- Enable effective workforce management
- Ensure payment of SSP or contractual sick pay
- Meet NTC obligations under health and safety laws
- Make decisions about continued employment or engagement
- Operate and maintain a record of dismissal procedures
- Ensure effective HR, personnel management and business administration
- Ensure adherence to NTC rules, policies and procedures
- Monitor equal opportunities
- Pay trade union premiums.

Where NTC processes other special categories of personal information i.e. information about your racial or ethnic origin, religious or philosophical beliefs and sexual orientation, this is done only for the purpose of equal opportunities monitoring and in line with NTC data protection policy. Personal information that NTC uses for these purposes is either anonymised or is collected with your explicit written consent, which can be withdrawn at any time. It is entirely your choice whether to provide such personal information.

NTC may also occasionally use your special categories of personal information, and information about any criminal convictions and offences, where it is needed for the establishment, exercise or defence of legal claims.

Change of purpose: NTC will only use your personal information for the purposes for which it was collected. If NTC need to use your personal information for a purpose other than that for which it was collected, NTC will provide you, prior to that further processing, with information about the new purpose. NTC will explain the legal basis which allows the organisation to process your personal information for the new purpose and NTC will provide you with any relevant further information. NTC may also issue a new privacy notice to you.

Who has access to your personal information? Your personal information may be shared internally within NTC, including with members of the HR department, payroll staff, your line manager, other managers in the department in which you work and IT staff if access to your personal information is necessary for the performance of their roles. NTC may also share your personal information with third-party service providers (and their designated agents), including:

- External organisations for the purposes of conducting pre-employment reference and employment background checks
- Payroll providers
- Benefits providers and benefits administration, including insurers
- Pension scheme provider and pension administration
- Occupational health providers
- External IT services
- External auditors
- Professional advisers, such as HR consultants, lawyers and accountants.

NTC may also share your personal information with other third parties in the context of a potential sale or restructuring of some or all of its business. In those circumstances, your personal information will be subject to confidentiality undertakings.

NTC may also need to share your personal information with a regulator or to otherwise comply with the law.

NTC may share your personal information with third parties where it is necessary to administer the contract it has entered into with you, where NTC need to comply with a legal obligation, or where it is necessary for the organisations legitimate interests (or those of a third party).

How does NTC protect your personal information? NTC has put in place measures to protect the security of your personal information. It has internal policies, procedures and controls in place to try and prevent your personal information from being accidentally lost or destroyed, altered, disclosed or used or accessed in an unauthorised way. In addition, NTC limit access to your personal information to those employees, workers, agents, contractors and other third parties who have a business need to know in order to perform their job duties and responsibilities. You can obtain further information about these measures from NTC's Data Compliance Manager.

Where your personal information is shared with third-party service providers, NTC require all third parties to take appropriate technical and organisational security measures to protect your personal information and to treat it subject to a duty of confidentiality and in accordance with data protection law. NTC only allow them to process your personal information for specified purposes and in accordance with our written instructions and NTC do not allow them to use your personal information for their own purposes.

NTC also has in place procedures to deal with a suspected data security breach and NTC will notify the Information Commissioner's Office (or any other applicable supervisory authority or regulator) and you of a suspected breach where NTC are legally required to do so.

For how long does NTC keep your personal information? NTC will only retain your personal information for as long as is necessary to fulfil the purposes for which it was collected and processed, including for the purposes of satisfying any legal, tax, health and safety, reporting or accounting requirements.

NTC will generally hold your personal information for the duration of your employment or engagement. The exceptions are:

- Any personal information supplied as part of the recruitment process will not be retained if it has no bearing on the ongoing working relationship
- Personal information about criminal convictions and offences collected in the course of the recruitment process will be deleted once it has been verified through a DBS criminal record check, unless, in exceptional circumstances, the information has been assessed by NTC as relevant to the ongoing working relationship

- It will only be recorded whether a DBS criminal record check has yielded a satisfactory or unsatisfactory result, unless, in exceptional circumstances, the information in the criminal record check has been assessed by NTC as relevant to the ongoing working relationship
- If it has been assessed as relevant to the ongoing working relationship, a DBS criminal record check will nevertheless be deleted after six months, or once the conviction is spent if earlier (unless information about spent convictions may be retained because the role is an excluded occupation or profession)
- Disciplinary, grievance and capability records will only be retained until the expiry of any warning given (but a summary disciplinary, grievance or performance management record will still be maintained for the duration of your employment).

Once you have left employment or your engagement has been terminated, NTC will generally hold your personal information for one year after the termination of your employment or engagement, but this is subject to:

- Any minimum statutory or other legal, tax, health and safety, reporting or accounting requirements for particular data or records
- The retention of some types of personal information for up to six years to protect against legal risk e.g. if they could be relevant to a possible legal claim in a tribunal, County Court or High Court. NTC will hold payroll, wage and tax records (including salary, bonuses, overtime, expenses, benefits and pension information, National Insurance number, PAYE records, tax code and tax status information) for six years after the termination of your employment or engagement. Overall, this means that NTC will thin the file of personal information that NTC hold on you 12 months after the termination of your employment or engagement, so that NTC only continue to retain for a longer period what is strictly necessary.

Personal information which is no longer to be retained will be securely and effectively destroyed or permanently erased from NTC IT systems and NTC will also require third parties to destroy or erase such personal information where applicable.

In some circumstances, NTC may anonymise your personal information so that it no longer permits your identification. In this case, NTC may retain such information for a longer period.

Your rights in connection with your personal information: It is important that the personal information NTC hold about you is accurate and up to date. Please keep NTC informed if your personal information changes e.g. you change your home address, during your working relationship with NTC so that records can be updated. NTC cannot be held responsible for any errors in your personal information in this regard unless you have notified the organisation of the relevant change.

As a data subject, you have a number of statutory rights. Subject to certain conditions, and in certain circumstances, you have the right to:

- Request access to your personal information - this is usually known as making a data subject access request and it enables you to receive a copy of the personal information NTC hold about you and to check that NTC are lawfully processing it
- Request rectification of your personal information - this enables you to have any inaccurate or incomplete personal information NTC hold about you corrected
- Request the erasure of your personal information - this enables you to ask NTC to delete or remove your personal information where there's no compelling reason for its continued processing e.g. it's no longer necessary in relation to the purpose for which it was originally collected
- Restrict the processing of your personal information - this enables you to ask NTC to suspend the processing of your personal information e.g. if you contest its accuracy and so want NTC to verify its accuracy
- Object to the processing of your personal information - this enables you to ask NTC to stop processing your personal information where NTC are relying on the legitimate interests of the business as the legal basis for processing and there is something relating to your particular situation which makes you decide to object to processing on this ground
- Data portability - this gives you the right to request the transfer of your personal information to another party so that you can reuse it across different services for your own purposes.

If you wish to exercise any of these rights, please contact NTC's Data Compliance Manager. NTC may need to request specific information from you in order to verify your identity and check your right to access the personal information, or to exercise any of your other rights. This is a security measure to ensure that your personal information is not disclosed to any person who has no right to receive it.

In the limited circumstances where you have provided your consent to the processing of your personal information for a specific purpose, you have the right to withdraw your consent for that specific processing at any time. This will not, however, affect the lawfulness of processing based on your consent before its withdrawal. If you wish to withdraw your consent, please contact NTC's Data Compliance Manager. Once NTC have received notification that you have withdrawn your consent, NTC will no longer process your personal information for the purpose you originally agreed to, unless NTC have another legal basis for processing.

If you believe that NTC has not complied with your data protection rights, you have the right to make a complaint to the Information Commissioner's Office (ICO) at any time. The ICO is the UK supervisory authority for data protection issues.

Transferring personal information outside the European Economic Area: NTC will not transfer your personal information to countries outside the European Economic Area.

Automated decision making: Automated decision making occurs when an electronic system uses your personal information to make a decision without human intervention. NTC do not envisage that any employment decisions will be taken about you based solely on automated decision making, including profiling. However, NTC will notify you in writing if this position changes.

Changes to this privacy notice: NTC reserves the right to update or amend this privacy notice at any time, including where NTC intends to further process your personal information for a purpose other than that for which the personal information was collected, or where NTC intend to process new types of personal information. NTC will issue you with a new privacy notice when NTC make significant updates or amendments. NTC may also notify you about the processing of your personal information in other ways.

Contact: If you have any questions about this privacy notice or how NTC handle your personal information, please contact NTC's Data Compliance Manager.
